Did you know? Staff Senator Elections & ‘Employee Voice’ Research Study

The University Senate is an opportunity for staff employees to participate in the advisory and legislative body that represents the entire Rutgers community. Voting for staff representatives will begin on Thursday, April 2, 2020 through Wednesday, April 8, 2020, 4:30pm. Election of candidates will occur via the election website.

Dr. Richard Dool, School of Communication & Information, is leading a large research study on the "employee voice." Testing the hypothesis that the "Employee Voice" is an underleveraged asset of the organization, the research project will study the intersections, if any, between leadership communication and the "employee voice" in an organization.
